Preparation Guidelines for the elimination of German Cockroaches

Absolute Pest Control Inc. will be entering your home on _____ to treat for Cockroaches. Prior to their arrival, you should prepare for the treatment as follows:

Our preferred approach to controlling an infestation of German Cockroaches is the application of Gel Bait Technology.

The advantages of using bait versus insecticide is:

Avoidance of contaminating every crack and crevice in your kitchen and bathrooms with an insecticide as a control agent. This is in general less polluting for your living environment and less of a hazard for you and your pets. Furthermore it is less of an intrusion into your daily life. This Technique is cleaner and safer and more effective.

Before the application of our bait product please prepare your home as follows:

Make sure all dishes, utensils and food products are put away in cupboards, drawers and fridge.

Pull out the fridge and stove and thoroughly clean in behind these appliances.

Leave Appliances pulled out away from the wall until after the service is completed

Do not use any insecticide aerosol before or after the application. This acts as a repellent even household cleaner could repel the roaches so use with caution after the treatment.

You do not have to leave your home during or after the application.

Please ensure that dirty dishes are not left in the sink overnight, countertops are cleaned and food products are stored properly. This will greatly speed up the control process.

Please vacuum dead roaches that maybe found in the control area.

Thank You
